

Dear FMC members,

Our last field trip of the year is this Saturday, October 26, to North Table Mountain outside of Golden. North Table Mountain is a world-renowned site for collecting zeolite minerals. Thomsonite, analcime, chabazite, fluorapophyllite, and calcite are relatively common, and other minerals can also be found. The hike to the collecting site is a little more than a mile with an 800-foot elevation gain. This is a great trip for kids; everyone will find specimens to take home. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

If you'd like to join us this Saturday, please email me at gertenbach1@gmail.com, and I'll send you details about the trip.
